DESCRIPTION
This course will investigate the organizational dynamics of new religious movements. We will seek to understand why “cults” emerge and how they proliferate, as we explore processes of recruitment, conversion, and charisma. We will also examine conflicts of these movements with established churches, anti-cult organizations, and the state.

REQUIREMENTS
Students must complete course readings before the assigned date. Due to the importance of discussions, oral presentations, and peer feedback, class participation will be essential. Our activities outside of class will often require use of computers and access to the Internet. These facilities are available in university libraries for all students. All assignments must be typed and double-spaced. All underlined items on syllabus are required in-class activities.

TEXTS
- Plus additional articles.

Readings marked with “*” on the syllabus are available on Electronic Reserve. You may download reserve articles from the link on our course web page, and you may legally print a personal copy for class use. All electronic reserves require the Adobe Acrobat Reader, which is included with most web browsers (and is also available free of charge at www.adobe.com). Problems with downloading or printing these articles will not excuse you from the readings.

GROUND RULES
- Exam dates are not flexible. There will be no “make-ups” for exams or papers.
- Early papers will be accepted. Late papers will be severely penalized.
- There is no “curve,” so grades will not be competitive and I encourage group study.
- Grades are never negotiable, but I do accept substantial projects for “extra credit.”
- Make frequent backups of your files. Lost papers and failed disks do not earn extensions.

“Class participation” includes constructive involvement in discussions and activities, and will also include numerous written exercises that look a lot like “pop quizzes.” While those exercises will not be individually graded, they will be assembled into a portfolio that summarizes your level of preparedness for class. This portfolio will be a major part of your class participation grade. If you miss a class meeting or fail to read the assignment, you can submit a typed rewrite of the exercise for your portfolio at the next class meeting. See our web page for details and guidelines on exercises.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Students will maintain the highest standards of academic integrity.

You may study for exams together, and I encourage you to do so. You may share drafts of your papers with your peers, and I encourage you to give each other feedback. However, as with all academic courses, you may not copy (or paraphrase) text from any other source without citation and/or quotation, as appropriate. You also may not speak with anyone else or consult any written materials during an exam. Cheating and plagiarism have severe disciplinary consequences.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

I will gladly provide fair and reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities, at the recommendation of Disabled Student Services (488 Schmitz Hall, 206-543-8924). Please show me the letter from DSS indicating accommodations that you may need for this class.
